

The Miami Herald © 2010 Miami Herald Media Company. All Rights Reserved.
http://www.miamiherald.com

Posted on Sat, Jan. 30, 2010

Hungry celebs dine in Miami

Seen dining at Michael's Genuine Food & Drink with two friends Monday night: Calvin Klein. On Thursday for lunch: Michael Caine with his brother-in-law. The thespian was overheard saying he was "crazy for the Poulet Rouge chicken and couldn't wait to get back there to have it."

Spotted at Lime Fresh Mexican Grill in Midtown Miami Wednesday was Mike Utley, former offensive lineman with the Detroit Lions, with his wife. Lunching at Lime Thursday: Alex Rodriguez.

In celebration of the Miami Heat's win against the Sacramento Kings a week ago, Dwyane Wade stopped by the new STK Miami Beach for a late dinner. The party of 12 included friends and rumored girlfriend, actress Gabrielle Union, who, says our source, entered hand-in-hand with the basketballer. The group chatted about the upcoming Grammy Awards and argued about who would win the Super Bowl.

On the next night, former Miami Heat star-turned-Cleveland Cavalier Shaquille O'Neal checked out the steakhouse with comedian Kevin Hart, just off his South Beach Comedy Festival gig, and brought, says our spy, "his appetite" as dining companion.

Mike Myers and a "woman friend" checked into the exclusive Little Palm Island on Wednesday. The chichi island getaway is having their Second Annual Sandbar Session, this time with Stephen Marley, who performs Feb. 20. For tickets and information go to www.keystix.com.

Dining at South Miami's Town Kitchen and Bar one night last week: punk legend Iggy Pop, who, says our spy, "shared lobster soft tacos with a supermodel-type, [while] his dog dined on Kobe sliders."

Just back from his relief efforts in Haiti is club promoter-turned-construction king Michael Capponi, along with a slew of heavy hitters including Julio Iglesias, Micky Arison and Miami Beach Mayor Matti Bower. Capponi is throwing a fundraiser Saturday for Save Haiti benefiting Project Medishare/UM Global Institute at his home on Sunset Island from 9 p.m. to midnight. Minimum donation suggested is $100 with 100% of proceeds going directly to Project Medishare's medical relief efforts underway in Haiti. Call 305-695-4410 or email RSVP@Capponigroup.com. A truck will also be in the driveway for those who want to drop off medical supplies.

Rapper Flo Rida had dinner at Meat Market Tuesday night with a big group of friends, "engaging the staff and having a great time," says our spy.

Caught by the paparazzi landing at Miami International Thursday night, Britney Spears and reported on-again, off-again boyfriend/manager Jason Trawick.